

at

Execute commands once at a later time.
Service atd (or atrun) should be running for the actual executions.

- Execute commands from standard input in 5 minutes (press Ctrl + D after entering commands):

```
at now + 5 min
```

- Execute a command from standard input at 10:00 AM today:

```
echo "{{./make_db_backup.sh}}" | at 1000
```

- Execute commands from a given file next Tuesday:

```
at -f {{path/to/file}} 9:30 PM Tue
```