hwclock

Used for reading or changing the hardware clock. Usually requires root.

- Display the current time as reported by the hardware clock:

hwclock

- Write the current software clock time to the hardware clock (sometimes used during system setup):

hwclock --systohc

- Write the current hardware clock time to the software clock:

hwclock --hctosys