uname

Print details about the current machine and the operating system running on it. Note: for additional information about the operating system, try the `lsb_release` command.

- Print hardware-related information: machine and processor:

`uname -mp`

- Print software-related information: operating system, release number, and version:

`uname -srv`

- Print the nodename (hostname) of the system:

`uname -n`

- Print all available system information (hardware, software, nodename):

`uname -a`